President's Message

In this day and age of student unrest it is good to note that our own student body gives evidence of being mature in its approach to problems as they exist today. In all too short a time our graduates, now alumni, will be faced with their own teen-age problems and only through their complete understanding and adult viewpoint will they be able to meet these manifold problems.

Our College can take great pride in the advance it has made in bringing education to many persons who might not otherwise have had an opportunity to attend college. That our students value this opportunity has been demonstrated time and again by the progress each has made. Since our students are destined to be the leaders of tomorrow, it is well to remember that they are solid citizens who have, in addition to their own welfare, the welfare of the community and the college very much in mind.

In the Dedication of our "Signet", the Class of 1966 cannot separate the admiration and respect which it holds for two professors who have added so much to our years at Quinsigamond Community College. Their interest in us, both as individuals and as students, has encouraged us to use our abilities to the fullest. In addition to their standards of academic excellence, it is they who have sacrificed time and exerted untried effort to establish and maintain social functions as an integral part of our college experience. Thus, it is with thought and appreciation that we dedicate our "Signet" of nineteen hundred and sixty-six to Professor MARCUS J. FARRELL and Professor ARTHUR B. KRUPNICK.

1964 Class 19

It is indeed difficult to encapsulate in a brief retrospective glance the totality of our college experience at Quinsigamond Community College. However, in briefly looking back, we recall amidst the long hours of study, classes, and dark winter days, a myriad of school events of little and great significance, social functions, and perhaps even fleeting momentary impressions whose single moments shall not be lost with the passing of time.

The lasting impression of the single moment as we entered our new school for the first time. That moment has generated and magnified itself into the pride we have felt in growing with our college. On that first Registration Day, we approached our newly renovated buildings with the ambivalent feelings of eagerness and anxiety—feelings that are so much of anticipation. And from hope were to be born the actual accomplishments of our college life. While details such as the dress code were to remain a drastic change from the care-free days of high school, college was to hold for us a sense of academic, professional, and social fulfillment that was sorely lacking in high school.

Indicative of that sense of fulfillment are our fond memories of social engagements as our first Freshman Dance at the Y.W.C.A. on September 25, 1964, followed shortly thereafter by the memorable Rope Pull of October at the Greenhill Park mud pond. We recall, too, the Halloween Dance at the Yellow Barn. Also in 1964 was the Mixer with Mount Wachusett Community College at the Y.W.C.A., followed by our big event of 1964, the Formal Dinner Dance at the Yankee Drummer Inn on December 11th.

1965 was socially inaugurated at Quinsigamond Community College with the Winter Carnival Weekend topped off with the 50th Anniversary of Nick’s Grille. It was just last year, too, that we had our Informal Dance at the Yellow Barn; our Homecoming in the Little Theater; and our fondly remembered ROSES AND ROSES Prom at the Pleasant Valley Country Club on June 7th.

Our sense of fulfillment may be further enhanced by our memories of the 1963 theatrical production of “The Madwoman of Chaillot”, the construction of a library from a student lounge, and our learning of what it means to be a newspaper reporter.

65 History 1966

WINTER CARNIVAL—“Wonderland by Night”

The 1966 academic year was to bring with it dynamic and even startling changes for Quinsigamond Community College. The second Registration Day, we were to see here, this time September 1965, was to bring an onslaught of new faces—students and faculty alike. Our second year was also to bring us to the realization that space was at a premium—as we discovered at our “Quinsigamond in the Inertias.” Strangely—our student body was no longer small!

This year, we were to see our second Informal Dance at the Y.W.C.A.; a wonderful Halloween Dance; a pleasantly recalled Christmas Dance at Indian Meadows; plus Lecture Hall #400 reverberating with five powerful amplifiers on the evening of February 18th. Even though our second Winter Carnival, “Wonderland by Night”, was snowless, thus limiting our sculpting plans for the Winter Carnival, we fondly recall the Formal Dance at Nick’s Grille on Saturday.

Regarding our deeply felt sense of fulfillment at an entire student body, we turn our brief reminiscence to the greatest triumph of our two years here. We recall with a fascination and spontaneously shared by all, the effort and enthusiasm of all the participants in Quinsigamond’s “Gins and Dolls” production presented on March 3rd, 4th, and 5th in Atwood Hall, Clark University. It was here that the generating and ever-increasing sense of school spirit culminated and matured into the deepest sense of fulfillment a college group may experience. This was a fulfillment participated in to the fullest extent by faculty and students together.

With anticipation the class of 1966 looks toward the spring of the year and the life to come. This spring will bring the picnic, the prom, exams, and hopefully graduation. In the future we will look back on the days at Q.C.C. with fond memories and nostalgia.

Many students in the college find that their mental health is not as good as it once was. It is true that many students may face stress, anxiety, or depression, but there are ways to address these issues.

As an editor of this newspaper, I would like to ask, how do we support these students? How do we help them find a way to cope with their mental health issues?

I believe that we need to be more open about our mental health struggles. We need to create a safe space where students can talk about their struggles and get the help they need.

In closing, I would like to encourage all students to seek help if they are struggling. It's important to prioritize our mental health and seek support when needed.

Actors' Tension Mounts

by David V. King

In the few moments before the curtains come together, the actors in "The Tension Mounts" experience a mixture of excitement, tension, and nervousness. The anticipation of the upcoming performance is palpable as they step onto the stage, ready to deliver their roles.

The actors are aware of the importance of their performance, knowing that it could make or break their career. They are constantly aware of their body language and facial expressions, as even a small mistake could alter the entire scene.

The tension they feel is not unlike that of an athlete before the big game. The preparation and practice have paid off, and they are ready to deliver their best.

In the heat of the moment, they must maintain their composure and focus. They are aware of the audience's reactions and the potential impact of their performance.

As the lights dim and the curtains come together, the actors must remain focused and give their all, knowing that their performance will be judged by the audience.

The actors' tension mounts as they prepare to perform, but they are determined to give their best. The anticipation is nerve-wracking, but the thrill of knowing that their hard work and dedication will be on display is worth it.

The curtain rises, and the actors step onto the stage, ready to give their all. The audience is captivated as they deliver their roles, and the actors feel the immense satisfaction of a job well done.

The curtains come together, and the actors breathe a sigh of relief. They have given their best, and the audience was captivated. The actors' tension has been lifted, and they are ready to take on the next challenge.

Many students in the college think that their college activities are not part of their education. On the contrary, it is the belief that these activities are not well organized. Each person's high education is a many faceted, all the more impressive, the more it is complete; a complete education is to participate in functions other than those shared with the classroom.

As editor of this newspaper, we solicit your help to make the college a place to belong to, to enjoy, to experience the college is a many faceted, all the important, the more it is complete. A complete education is to participate in functions other than those shared with the classroom.

We would like to ask, at this time, that you give some of your time and help to the activities of the college. These are only two activities in the college that the students can participate in, an important, the more it is complete. A complete education is to participate in functions other than those shared with the classroom.

My God! We're broke!

And a one and a two chug-a-lug, chug-a-lug.

Who says we can't have a dance in '40?

Get, I know that one yesterday, but...

Emma! Get your smoking out of the coffee urn now!

Actually, it's just a Social Committee poster.

Jahow? I said you to use your jacket pocket for that!
I took my dancing lessons from Arthur Murray!

But are we? I had them done three weeks ago!

Oh! That Miss Anderson!

He thinks I'm Crazy.

That’s to impress the girls.

"Peter, try to read my lips."

"When I was in Bolivia..."
