“Go placidly amid the noise and the haste and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible, without surrender, be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even to the dull and the ignorant; they, too, have their story.

“Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in this changing of times—be yourself. Especially do not be too negligent. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and desolation it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth.

“Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with dark imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.

“Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe no less than the trees and the stars. You have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should . . . .”

The mark of this man is his love of life and of people. He gives freely of himself, his enthusiasm and his knowledge. With vitality, he engages in his teaching of psychology. We dedicate this yearbook to Professor Robert P. Bowden, in an attempt to return some of the respect he has given us.

"It is the supreme art of the teacher to awaken joy in creative expression and knowledge."

PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

The college age youth in America today seeks greater participation in the affairs of our society. As he seeks greater involvement in the economic, political, educational and social aspects of his life, he then inherits or has thrust upon him greater responsibilities. To seek involvement without the willingness to assume added responsibility places a greater burden on one’s neighbor, colleague or friend and further complicates an already complex society.

It serves no purpose to withdraw from society to seek escape from involvement, to “cop out”, to leave our neighbor or colleague to carry an increasingly heavy burden of responsibility. One must face up to the awesome problems we have in the world today. QCC students have, through the years, demonstrated their desire to be of help, to shoulder additional burdens, to carry the responsibilities of a good citizen. I am sure my colleagues or faculty, administration and staff would join me in expressing our confidence in you who are the leaders of tomorrow. We place great trust in you; we have a deep faith in your future.

Class History

The 1968 Class of Quinsigamond Community College began its freshman year in the fall of 1966 with 708 members. Our Freshman Year started with a week of orientation including a lecture at the Little Theater and a banquet at the Y.W.C.A. The banquet was followed by the Welcome Freshman Dance sponsored by the Social Committee.

Beanie week followed and amidst the confusion of a new school and new people, we had to contend with the threats of the sophomores. It ended for most of our class in the same place, Beanie Court.

One of the first things we had to do as freshmen was to elect the vice-president, corresponding secretary and members at large from our class to the Student Council. Robert Carrachio and Cheryl Hogan were elected to the positions of vice-president and corresponding secretary, respectively.

Beginning in September and continuing throughout the year, there were many Lectures and Performances which we had to attend. These included such famous people as H.S. Commander, James Farmer and Malcolm Fraser.

The Winter Carnival came and went leaving in its path a joyous memory of frolic and great fun for all who attended. It lasted from February 16th to February 18th, ranging in its activities from skiing and tobogganing to dining and dancing, which were enjoyed by all.

The play "Endgame" was directed by Miss Dana Anderson, a member of the faculty. The four member cast consisted of Kenneth Damore, Elaine Sonntag, John Sanders and Ralph Wymans, a member of the Freshman Class.

Our school picnic was somewhat shadowed by rain but our spirits were not dampened. After a day of horseback riding, baseball and other "extra curricular" activities, we danced that night to the music of the Jones.

The picnic was held at Glenmerton Country Club in Mil- lis, Mass.

Before finals came the time for us to elect members of our class to the Student Council. Calvin Bowker was elected President; Bill Lings, Treasurer; Cheryl Hogan, Secretary; Joyce Carlson, Terry Muir, Donna MacKay, Joseph Duggan, and Donna Hackenson were elected Members at Large.

We the surviving members of the class began our Sophomore year in the Fall of 1967.

Officers of the Social Committee for 1967 were Dennis McGuinness, Chairman; Leslie McGrath, Vice Chairman; Amelia Leonard, Secretary; and Robert Schmidt, Treasurer. Professor Bowden was faculty advisor.

Our basketball season soon began and for the first time in the history of the school we had Cheerleaders. They were Maureen Murphy, Co-Captain Linda Backbercht, Co-Captain, Roseanne Ferraro, Lynn Cushing, Joanne Hurst, Barbara Bausen, Maureen Fortin, Doris Simkus and Carol Palitunas. The basketball team did exceptionally well throughout the season and was invited to a Community College Tournament, March 8 and 9, sponsored by Greenfield Community College.

On December 8, 1967, what we all had been waiting for was accomplished by the foresight of our President, Paul Press. Quinsigamo Community College was accredited!

Our anticipation grew stronger for with the coming of spring would be the long awaited event of graduation. With mid-terms over and finals being our last goal, we found ourselves asking, "Is it to be or not to be?" a graduate of Quinsigamo. As the hustle and bustle increased and the studies became more intense, we ran about preparing for that final day. When, indeed, with our caps and gowns, we would take that last look at dear old Quinsigamo, turning thence to the cold, cruel world, earnestly trusting that the knowledge imparted to us from our most venerable professors would bring us upward and onward to a greater glory.
