QMAT Registration and Access to Practice Tests via Blackboard

Register for and Access QMAT Practice Tests Powered by Pearson MyMathTest
The first time you access QMAT, you will need to register. Follow the steps below to complete registration. Once completed, you will have access to practice tests and study modules. You only need to register once.

Registration Steps

1. Open Blackboard. You can get into Blackboard via the Q by using your Microsoft credentials or by using your ID# and then changing the password – whichever way was sent to you in an email.

2. Click on Courses.

3. Click on QMAT 2026 (Pearson)

4. Click on QMAT Placement 2026.

5. Click on Open Pearson.

At this point, you may not get a few of these steps. Just skip ahead to where you are. If given a choice between Link or Continue, choose Continue.

6. Click on Create an Account.

7. Complete the form. Use your QCC email address for both email and username, then select Create Account.

8. Click Continue.

9. Click Access Now.

10. Click Open MyLab & Mastering.

11. Click Go to My Courses.

12. Click Take a Test.

13. Select Step 1 and continue to Access Practice Tests.

You now have access to the practice tests and study modules.

- You can see the test sections in the menu below, but you can't access them until you are in the testing center with testing services staff.
- After completing the first practice test, additional study modules become available. You may take the practice tests and access the study modules as often as you like.

Important Notes

- You do not need to create a Pearson account again in the future.
- During testing, staff will log you in and you may be prompted to change your Blackboard password. Changing your Blackboard password does not affect your Microsoft credentials.
- After testing, you may access Blackboard using either your updated Blackboard password or your Microsoft credentials.
